 Data Security Solutions for the Next Hundred Years
Well Positioned For Strategic Growth in 2017

CipherLoc Corporation is a data security solutions company whose vision is simple - Protect the World's Data

The foundation of modern security relies on encryption technology to protect sensitive information and maintain user privacy. However, modern encryption algorithms are easily broken with the massive amounts of computing horsepower available today have compromised existing algorithms and have made them susceptible to attacks.

The CipherLoc mission is to eliminate the flaws and inadequacies associated with today's encryption algorithms in order to fully and securely protect the world's data. CipherLoc Corporation is a data security solutions company. Our highly innovative products - based on our patented polymorphic encryption technology - are designed to enable an iron-clad layer of protection to be added to existing solutions.

CipherLoc has developed technology that Dramatically enhances data security and can be easily added to existing products Is scalable and future-proof. Our solutions are not a replacement of existing encryption technologies but rather an enhancement to them. Our mobile, desktop, and server software solutions are specifically designed to be added to any third-party application, service, or product. With a highly flexible and modular technology that can be easily added other software solutions,
