Well Positioned For Strategic Growth in 2017

Simlatus Corporation designs, manufactures and sells commercial audio and video broadcast equipment worldwide. The company has a current expanding revenue base in the broadcast industry with long-term national and international distribution. The company's customers include large broadcast giants such as CBS, NBC, ABC, FOX, ESPN and DIRECTV, as well as many smaller broadcast customers, which include religious facilities, international broadcast facilities, colleges, and radio stations. The new Simlatus-IBS™ will allow the company to capitalize in the $150B growing industry of augmented/virtual reality

Simlatus is positioned with current sales of their commercial broadcasting support systems, and is now structuring the R&D virtual/augmented reality products to develop a strategic technology roadmap which will enable the company to expand into high-growth digital television and over-the-top (OTT) markets. These products are being developed for Simlatus' existing consumers and newer markets.

Simlatus' new products will include SyncPal, 'SocialCast AR,' Augmented Reality, and Virtual Reality Content Server products for major markets. The target technologies include Virtual Reality, Augmented Reality, Audio/Video Codecs, Audio Content Recognition, and OTT API Integration into Key Platforms.
